

Anthony Saxton

A veteran of 30 years in executive search, Anthony now enjoys a plural life in which he is able to apply his wide experience in a number of different fields, both as a consultant and as Chairman of three companies.

Chairman, The Results Partnership (2008-)

Having previously co-owned one of the earlier London mentoring and assessment firms, he was happy to join Results, partly because he enjoys the challenges its clients present, but also because he identifies with businesslike and pragmatic approach the firm deploys.

Chairman, Kormet Limited (2006-)

Based in Perth, Western Australia, Kormet works with the Government of North Korea to redevelop its iron ore reserves. His task is to build the best possible top team and to handle investor and government relations.

Chairman, Alium Limited (2008-)

Alium (previously Boyden Interim Management) is the leading UK independent provider of senior interim executives. Anthony's tasks include enabling the development of strategy and the firm's senior team, building international coverage and fronting the company to potential funders.

Chairman, Moloney Search Limited (2003-2007)

He enjoyed a five year stint with this dynamic young firm, where he was able to help with maintaining continuity with major clients and the development of a major practice with Central Government Departments.

Founder Chairman, Saxton Bampfylde Hever (1986-2002)

One of the more successful search firms of its era, Saxton Bampfylde operated in diverse client fields. His clientele was highly international and included PepsiCo and Goldman Sachs, as well as major retailers, universities and government departments. He was co- Founder Chairman of the Amrop Hever Group of search organisations in over 50 countries.

A long term member of the US Board of the AESC, he was much involved in its European establishment and served as Chair for his last two years with Saxton Bampfylde. Thereafter he served on the AESC's Global Ethics Committee.
